Aims: The policy exists in order to ensure that all the provisions of relevant equality laws, and the recommendations of associated codes of practice, are fully observed throughout all areas of The Cornwall Independent School. The Race Relations Act 1976, Race Relations Amendment Act 2000, Sex Discrimination Act 1986 and Special Educational Needs and Disability Act 2001 have all been replaced by the Equality Act 2010. Therefore, this Policy subsumes the policies in the following areas: Disability; Race Equality; Community Cohesion; Equal Opportunities; and Equality and Diversity. Our duties under the Equality Act 2010 include dealing with issues related to pupils with special educational needs/disabilities and making reasonable adjustments for these pupils. This has implications for the School's Admission Policy. We aim to create and protect a learning environment free from any forms of discrimination, victimisation or harassment. The Cornwall Independent School celebrates every individual, supporting them to meet their full potential, regardless of age, gender, social or ethnic background, nationality, colour, religious affiliation, physical disability or sexual orientation.

Schedule 10 of the Equality Act 2010: requires the Proprietor of The Cornwall Independent School to have an Accessibility Plan, in writing, (which is kept over a prescribed period) that covers:

- increasing the extent to which disabled pupils can participate in the school's curriculum,
- improving the physical environment of the school for the purpose of increasing the extent to which disabled pupils are able to take advantage of education and benefits, facilities or services provided or offered by the school, and
- improving the delivery to disabled pupils of information which is readily accessible to pupils who are not disabled. The delivery must be within a reasonable time and in ways which are determined after taking account of the pupils' disabilities and any preferences expressed by them or their parents.

The Accessibility Plan must be implemented by the Headteacher, who must have regard to the need to allocate adequate resources for implementing the plan. The plan must be kept under review during the period, and, if necessary, revise it.

Protected Characteristics: It is unlawful for a school to discriminate against an individual by treating them less favourably because of their:

- Sex
- Disability
- Sexual orientation
- Gender reassignment
- Religion or belief
- Race (including colour, nationality and ethnic or national origins)
- Pregnancy and maternity
- Age
- Marriage and civil partnership

Everyone has at least some characteristics included in this list. The school aims to foster a sense of community in which all pupils are valued and can thrive regardless of any of these characteristics and will seek to counter and discriminatory practices. In teaching about sexual orientation and marriage and civil partnership, teachers have regard to statutory guidance on Relationships and Sex Education. For further information, please see the School's RSE Policy.

Definition of Disability: "A person has a disability if he or she has a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long term adverse effect on his or her ability to carry out normal day to day activities."

Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Policy: The Cornwall Independent School SEND Policy includes:

- an explanation of how the individual needs of all children will be met (including how children who are disabled or have special educational needs (SEN) will be included, valued and supported, and how reasonable adjustments will be made for them);
- arrangements for reviewing, monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of inclusive practices that promote and value diversity and difference;
- how inappropriate attitudes and practices are challenged; and
- how the provision encourages children to value and respect others.

Guiding Principles: The Cornwall Independent School is committed to a policy of equality of opportunity in respect of all its members. To this end, we take steps to ensure that pupils appreciate racial and cultural diversity, and avoid and resist racism. Fundamental to its life as a school community is the belief that all individuals, regardless of age, gender, social or ethnic background, nationality, colour, religious affiliation, physical disability or sexual orientation are of equal value. In order to ensure that our school community is one in which these values flourish, The Cornwall Independent School is guided by the following principles in relation to Equality. Personal, Social, Health, Economic Education (PSHEE), including Social, Moral, Spiritual, Cultural (SMSC) Education, instructs all aspects of school life.

Principle 1

All learners are valued, and their contributions recognised: Learners are supported and encouraged to maximise their potential and to contribute fully to all areas of school life. Contributions are regularly recognised: on a small scale, through regular verbal and written feedback by teaching staff; on a larger scale, through end-of-term prizes which include academic, theatrical, dramatic, and sporting achievement, as well as dedication to the school Mission statement. We aim to give every pupil a sense of achievement and fulfilment regardless of disability, ethnicity, culture, national origin, national status, sex, gender, religious or non-religious affiliation, sexual orientation or gender identity. We are fully committed to the fundamental ethical principles of:

- Consideration for others
- Awareness of the importance and celebration of each and every individual within the School community
- The need to respond generously to the needs of those less economically fortunate than ourselves.

School will cover themes of shared concern and are not biased in respect of any religion, denomination or gender. Just as cultural and religious diversity within the School community is to be valued, so it is important that the life and direction of individual religious groups should be supported within the context of The Cornwall Independent School.

Teaching, learning and curriculum: The Cornwall Independent School has a high standard of teaching and curriculum provision that supports high standards of attainment, promotes common values and builds pupils' understanding of the diversity that surrounds them, recognising similarities and appreciating different cultures, faiths, ethnicities and socio-economic backgrounds. Opportunities for discussing issues of identity and diversity are integrated across the curriculum. We ensure:

- Lessons across the curriculum that promote common values and help pupils to value differences and to challenge prejudice and stereotyping – for example, opportunities in citizenship classes for pupils to discuss issues of identity and diversity and what it means 'to live together in the UK'.
- A programme of curriculum-based activities whereby pupils' understanding of community and diversity is enriched through visits and meetings with members of different communities.

- Support for pupils for whom English is an additional language (EAL) to enable them to achieve at the highest possible level in English.
- An effective voice and involvement of pupils in the governance and organisation of the school in a way that teaches them to participate in and make a difference in school, in their local community and beyond.

Principle 2

Diversity is recognised and respected: Treating people with respect and consideration, in accordance with Principle 1, does not necessarily mean that everyone should be treated identically. We aim to treat members of our school community with the utmost consideration and respect, and in doing so will approach their life situations, experiences and problems with a personalised and differentiated response in accordance with their particular needs. We will also recognise and respond to problems that people may face and will recognise and work to eliminate discrimination, in relation to:

- Disability,
- Ethnicity,
- Sex, Sexual Orientation, Gender and Gender identity;
- Religion, belief or faith background

And as relevant:

- Pregnancy/maternity

And in relation to employment:

- Age, Marriage/civil partnership

Eliminating discrimination, promoting equality and celebrating diversity: We aim to provide all our pupils with the opportunity to succeed, and to reach the highest level of personal achievement. To do this, teaching and learning will:

- ensure equality of access for all pupils and prepare them for life in a diverse society;
- use materials that reflect diversity within society in terms of age, race, gender, ability, faith, ethnicity, social condition, cultural background and sexual orientation, without stereotyping;
- develop learning materials and activities that emphasise benefits of having diverse communities, neighbourhoods, schools and groups;
- provide opportunities for pupils to appreciate their own culture and celebrate the diversity of other cultures;
- promote attitudes and values that will challenge discriminatory behaviour;
- provide opportunities for pupils to identify shared interests among members of different social groups and categories;
- use a range of sensitive teaching strategies when teaching about different cultural traditions;
- develop pupils' awareness so that they can detect bias and challenge discrimination;
- ensure that the PSHEE and Citizenship curriculum cover issues of equalities, diversity, human rights and inclusion;
- promote and celebrate the contribution of different ethnic groups to the subject matter in all subject departments, where appropriate;
- seek to involve all parents in supporting their child's education;
- provide educational visits and extra-curricular activities that reflect all pupil groupings;
- take account of the performance of all pupils when planning for future learning and setting challenging targets;
- make best use of all available resources to support the learning of all groups of pupils;
- increase achievement of all pupils in English, Maths, Science and ICT across all stages;
- reduce direct, indirect and institutional discrimination;
- reduce group segregation, disproportion and under/over representation;
- foster social bonding (intra-group relations) and social bridging (inter-group relations) among pupils, workers, staff, parents, carers and families;
- emphasise interconnectedness and interdependence of society members at local, regional, national and global levels;
- facilitate balance between leadership and teamwork among pupils, staff, teachers and the Governance Advisory Board;
- challenge negative stereotypes and prejudices about leadership/membership to certain groups in relation to specific persons and groups;
- challenge assumptions and expectations about specific lifestyles or identities of certain persons and groups.

The Headteacher will avoid unlawful discrimination in all aspects of employment including recruitment, promotion, opportunities for training, pay and benefits, discipline and selection for redundancy. Person and job specifications will be limited to those requirements that are necessary for the effective performance of the job. Candidates for employment or promotion will be assessed objectively against the requirements for the job, taking account of any reasonable adjustments that may be required for candidates with a disability. Disability and personal or home commitments will not form the basis of employment decisions except where necessary.

The Cornwall Independent School fully acknowledges its moral duty (as related to the United Kingdom's Race Relations Act, 1976, Section 1) to promote equality of opportunity and good relations between members of different racial groups and it positively welcomes any communal or educational opportunities afforded by the school's cultural and religious diversity. All members of the School (whether of the pupil body, teaching or support staff) deserve to be treated with dignity and respect and with a sensitive understanding of their religious, cultural and racial differences and of the consequences thereof. Racially abusive language by pupils or staff will not be tolerated. If racial, religious or cultural elements are discovered to be present in incidents of bullying, these must be acknowledged and challenged. Racially abusive language by staff or pupils will be a matter for disciplinary action. Special leave for religious reasons will not be unreasonably refused by the School. Applications for such leave should be made in writing to the Headteacher, giving at least a month's notice. Any special leave granted will be treated as unpaid leave; part-time employees may be given the option of making up lost time if this would benefit the School. School lists are organised chronologically or alphabetically, rather than by gender (unless this is required by an outside agency for a particular purpose). Equal opportunities will be considered when grouping children for activities. This may involve specific grouping to ensure that every child participates fully (e.g. by attainment). Each child will be given opportunities to exercise responsibility within the classroom or the school, with care taken regarding stereotyping of roles. We see boys and girls as both carers and leaders.

Principle 3

Everyone is welcomed and made to feel comfortable within our school community: Our policies and practices should work to ensure that relations between different individuals and identity groups within school are positive, cordial and tolerant. This includes the promotion of:

- Positive attitudes, knowledge and understanding towards disability.
- Positive attitudes, knowledge and understanding of different ethnicities, cultures, religions, races and nationalities.
- Positive attitudes and mutual respect between boys and girls; women and men; and an intolerance of any sexual, homophobic or gender-based prejudice.

We welcome all applicants to join the school, whatever the background or physical disability of a child. We also seek to ensure that people with disabilities are not discriminated against when applying for jobs at our school. We take all reasonable steps to ensure that the school environment gives access to people with disabilities. So, for example, all children have access to the full range of the curriculum. We celebrate the cultural diversity of our community and show respect for all minority groups. We are aware that prejudice and stereotyping is caused by low self-image and ignorance. Through positive educational experiences and support for each individual's point of view, we aim to promote positive social attitudes and respect for all.

Inclusion (Please see our Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Policy for more details): Inclusion is a term used to describe the process of ensuring equity of learning opportunities for all children and young people. It is a process of identifying, understanding and breaking down barriers to participation and belonging. Inclusion is about the quality of their experience; how they are helped to learn, achieve and participate fully in the life of the school. The inclusion focus at The Cornwall Independent School is concerned particularly on those groups of learners who may have been marginalised historically or who have underachieved or who are currently underachieving when compared to their peers.

Working together to promote Inclusion: The Cornwall Independent School is committed to joint working arrangements with education, health and care bodies and professionals to secure effective outcomes for all learners in our schools. We engage our pupils with SEN and disabilities and their parents in decision making, so that useful insights can be gained into how to improve services and outcomes. The school also works in partnership with the relevant Local Authority in developing and reviewing its local offer to pupils. These services could include speech and language therapy, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, education psychology, mental health services, other health and social care professionals.

Learners with English as an Additional Language (EAL) and Learners from Minority Ethnic Groups (MEG): Pupils with EAL and those from a Gypsy, Roma and Traveller community are considered a minority ethnic group. To ensure equity of learning for our EAL and MEG learners, we ensure recognition and respect is given to the value and significance of the first language and the associated cultural expectations and norms. We assess learners with EAL to identify their proficiency levels of speaking English and will work with pupil to ensure they are appropriately supported in developing confidence and independence, providing a contextualised curriculum which is rooted in prior knowledge of the learning. We recognise that EAL learners, their families / carers and communities are not homogenous groups; it is important to know and understand who they are, in order to effectively support their needs. We encourage activities and events to help pupils and their families feel that they belong – to the school itself, the neighbourhood and locality, and to Britain more generally.

Principle 4

The Cornwall Independent School follows best practice in staff recruitment, retention, Continuing Professional Development (CPD), and cessation of employment: All policies and practices adopted by The Cornwall Independent School should be of benefit to employees and potential employees, in all areas of recruitment, promotion, retention, CPD, discipline, dismissal and redundancy. Employees and potential employees should receive equal opportunities in these areas, regardless of age, gender, social or ethnic background, nationality, colour, religious affiliation, physical disability or sexual orientation. As relevant, employees and potential employees should be given equal opportunities regardless of pregnancy, maternity, marriage/civil partnerships. Being a committed equal opportunities employer, The Cornwall Independent School will take every possible step to ensure that employees are treated equally and fairly in respect of these matters, be they staff or pupil, and The Cornwall Independent School challenges stereotyping and prejudice whenever it occurs. All pupils have equal access to the full range of educational opportunities provided by the school, and we are always striving to remove all forms of indirect discrimination that may form barriers to learning. All policies and practices will conform to the principle of equal opportunities in terms of recruitment, selection, training, promotion, career development, discipline and dismissal, and redundancy.

Principle 5

We will recognise and address inequalities and barriers that already exist, including combatting Racism: The Cornwall Independent School aims to foster an environment in which inequalities in any form are not manifest in our community. We will, however, commit to recognising any forms of inequality that do arise, and will work to combat these in the most effective manner possible.

Pupil achievements and progress: Pupils' attainment and progress in individual subjects is monitored. The school will develop strategies for tackling differences in the attainment and progress of particular ethnic groups. Targets will be set for individual pupils, so teachers will be aware of the ethnic background of each child. The school values the achievements and progress of pupils from all ethnic groups. Every pupil is offered the support and guidance they need. Staff challenge racism, stereotyping and promote racial equality in education, employment, training and career choice and steps will be taken to ensure that pupils on work experience are not subjected to racism or racial harassment.

Anti-Racism: It is the right of all pupils to receive the best education the school can provide, with access to all educational activities organised by the school. We do not tolerate any forms of racism or racist behaviour. Should a racist incident occur, we will act immediately to prevent any repetition of the incident. All racist incidents are recorded and reported to the Headteacher which will be dealt with under the schools anti-bullying and behaviour policies. We endeavour to make our school welcoming to all minority groups.

Our curriculum reflects the attitudes, values and respect that we have for minority ethnic groups. Should anyone at our school be a victim of racism, we will do all we can to support that person in overcoming any difficulties they may have.

Racism and tackling racial harassment: Racially abusive language by children and young people or staff will not be tolerated. If racial, religious or cultural elements are discovered to be present in incidents of bullying, these must be acknowledged and challenged. Racially abusive language by staff or children and young people will be a matter for disciplinary action. There are established procedures for dealing with incidents of racism and racial harassment which is understood by everyone in the school community. Any incident of racial harassment is unacceptable in our school. Incidents could take the form of physical assault, verbal abuse, and damage to a pupil's property or refusal to co-operate in a lesson, due to the ethnicity of a pupil or member of staff. Any adult witnessing an incident or being informed about an incident must follow these agreed procedures:

- Stop the incident and comfort the pupil who is the victim
- Reprimand the perpetrator and inform the victim what action has been taken
- If the incident is witnessed by other pupils, tell them why it is wrong
- Report the incident to the Headteacher and inform them of the action taken
- Inform the teacher(s) of both the victim and the Perpetrator, then record what happened
- Inform both sets of parents

We promote equality and combat racism by ensuring:

- racist language, attitudes and behaviour are categorically rejected;
- racial stereotypes are rejected. Those in classical literature must be made explicit to pupils and contextualised.
- pupils' names are pronounced correctly and nicknames avoided;
- attention is always paid to the spelling of names correctly;
- literature in School includes names from a wide variety of cultures;
- bilingual pupils and parents can nominate an interpreter when necessary;
- a lack of fluency in the English language is not used as an indication of academic potential

Sex:

- No pupil should be excluded from receiving the curriculum on the basis of their sex;
- No privileges must be reserved for pupils on the basis of their sex.

Class:

- Assumptions should not be made about pupils' home circumstances or potential based on social class.

Curriculum, teaching and learning (including language and cultural needs): The Cornwall Independent School promotes an inclusive curriculum that reflects the multi-ethnic nature of our society. We promote racial equality and ethnic diversity and racism and discrimination are challenged in all areas of the curriculum. Curriculum planning takes account of the ethnicity, background and language needs of all pupils. The school monitors and evaluates its effectiveness in providing an appropriate curriculum for all pupils. Assessment outcomes are used to: identify the specific needs of all pupils, inform policies, planning and the allocation of resources. Teaching methods and styles take account of the needs of all pupils and encourage positive attitudes to ethnic difference, cultural diversity and racial equality whilst taking active steps to ensure that resources in all areas of the curriculum are inclusive. We promote a greater understanding of cultural diversity and racial equality and acknowledge the importance of challenging racism and racial discrimination in all areas of school life. When designing schemes of work, we use this policy to guide us, both in our choice of topics to study, and in how to approach sensitive issues. All our teachers challenge any incidents of prejudice or racism. We record any serious incidents in the School Behaviour Book and draw them to the attention of the Headteacher.

Guidelines on working with pupils who have English as an Additional Language (EAL): The Cornwall Independent School recognises, encourages and values Bilingualism. The language and learning needs of and bilingual pupils are clearly identified and appropriate support is identified and used. The school will explore a broad range of other media e.g. Computer software, the internet, audio and video tapes, films, songs, games etc, to support cultural heritage.

Principle 6

The wider community and society should benefit from our policies and practices: We intend that our policies and practices contribute to the creation and maintenance of a diverse, tolerant and socially cohesive community. We view The Cornwall Independent School as playing a part in the creation of such communities at a school, local, regional and national level. We aim to encourage the active participation of all individuals and groups in society and in public life, regardless of age, gender, social or ethnic background, nationality, colour, religious affiliation, physical disability or sexual orientation. We intend to promote a society in which discrimination, victimisation and harassment on the basis of any perceived 'difference' is not tolerated.

How do we promote community cohesion? The Cornwall Independent School supports pupils from different ethnic or socioeconomic backgrounds to learn with, from and about each other, and provide opportunities for interaction between pupils from different backgrounds in wider settings. We group our work under the three following headings:

- Teaching, learning and curriculum – to teach pupils to understand others, to promote common values and to value diversity, to promote awareness of human rights and of the responsibility to uphold and defend them, and to develop the skills of participation and responsible action.
- Equity and excellence – to ensure equal opportunities for all to succeed at the highest level possible, removing barriers to access and participation in learning and wider activities and eliminating variations in outcomes for different groups.
- Engagement and ethos – to provide a means for children, young people and their families to interact with people from different backgrounds and build positive relations, including links with different schools and communities locally, across the country and internationally.

School to parents and the community: Our partnership activities with the local and wider community include:

- Working together with community representatives, for example through mentoring schemes or bringing community representatives into school to work with the pupils, ensuring that the pupil voice is heard and able to effect change.
- Maintaining strong links and multi-agency working between the school and other local agencies, such as the youth support service, the police and social care and health professionals.
- Home/school diaries
- Engagement with parents through parents' evenings.

Principle 7

On-going review and appraisal: The Cornwall Independent School is committed to regular review of its equalities policy, which will be evaluated and edited in the light of public research; individual comments and/or complaints; quantitative and qualitative information gathered by the school. The Cornwall Independent School is open to feedback and response on all matters related to its equalities policy from all stakeholders, including pupils, staff, parents, and Governance Advisory Board.
